

Volunteer Lawyers Project Offers Free Legal Advice to Landlords

VOLUNTEER LAWYERS
PROJECT

Are you a landlord of a 2-3 family home struggling with your mortgage payments or have tenants who are experiencing trouble paying rent? If you are, the Volunteer Lawyers Project (VLP) may be able to help.

VLP's Landlord Advocacy project provides free legal assistance to landlords. If you qualify, you may be able to access programs like Lawyer for the Day, and they can even provide legal assistance before you start any court proceedings or if you already have a court case pending.

VLP's team can also help you to apply for financial assistance to cover your tenant's rent and or your mortgage payments. Plus, VLP offers all landlords free educational materials and resources, regardless of their income.

Fill out an online application at www.vlplandlords.com to see if you qualify for free legal assistance. You can also call or email Project Coordinator, Yesenia Carrion at 857-320-6452 or ycarrion@vlpnet.org if you have any questions.
